A study on the cause of the cause of atopic dermatitis

Sung-Ea Park · Yong Heo

Department of Occupational Health, Catholic University of Daegu

ABSTRACT: Atopic dermatitis word in the plural implies that people with this disease than the normal, sensitive to certain food antigens or antigen inhalation causes allergic to react. Recently associated with atopic dermatitis and international journals, textbooks, research institutes and national institutions were reviewed over a leg 50 of the report. Outside the journal 'http://www.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/sites/entrez/' in the keyword "atopic dermatitis" in the Journal of the search was mainly shot, possession of controversial research that many or the number of subjects too few papers that were excluded if possible. causes of atopic dermatitis, atopic dermatitis and prevention research literature on the subject of investigation and international research trends, National Health Insurance Corporation through the release of the records has developed a statistical basis. Domestic Journal the Korea Research Foundation deungjaeji and the search was mainly of listed candidates, the existing research is being published in journals, or preferably of the present scientific evidence, or through double-blind clinical trial results, including the Journal of the order to select mainly was.

The skin associated with atopic dermatitis confined to the management plan is considered reasonable in the Abstract and the report, the Institute released information was abbreviated.

The prevalence of atopic dermatitis over the health impact of environmental factors were central to the investigation. The cause of atopic dermatitis, research and prevention of atopic dermatitis on the subject of research literature on survey research, and international trends, national health insurance said one of the basic materials has created a statistical survey, prevalence of atopic dermatitis in children through the causes of trends for research study was as follows.

First, the basic statistical data of National Health Insurance Corporation study analyzed data for children 5-7 years old 5 to the prevalence of atopic dermatitis, 14.9%, age 6 to 12.9%, 7 to 9.8% was to appear.
Secondly, based on data of National Health Insurance Corporation from 2003 to 2007 the average prevalence of atopic dermatitis in children's gender for the remaining 9.7% to 9.4% of the girls that if the prevalence has increased.

Third, the father and the child with atopic dermatitis, atopic dermatitis, the incidence was 66.6%, 45.9% is not the mother if the child has atopic dermatitis, atopic dermatitis, the incidence of 70.0%, 45.7% in the eopeun atopic dermatitis This survey was a large genetic effect.

The higher the education of parents of children with atopic dermatitis shows up as a low incidence of breast milk, your child's atopic dermatitis suyuhan 52.1% in the feeding rate is not higher than 40.5% were surveyed. Was no significant difference in food preferences.

Fourth, the environmental impact of indoor smoke from the 55.5% incidence of atopic dermatitis in children as the smoking does not significantly higher than the survey was 46.9%.

Key words : atopic dermatitis, prevalence